WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Japanese officials feared that the Soviet Union would try to disrupt the San Francisco conference on a peace treaty next month or try to force some unfavorable compromises. The Russian delegation, it was felt, would bring along its own treaty draft. While Washington pondered the significance of the Soviet decision to enter the conference, it was announced that India, Poland and Czechoslovakia had not yet accepted invitations. The British regretted that the Russians had not made constructive suggestions sooner, and the French anticipated trouble.

Prime Minister Ben-Gurion, opening the World Zionist Congress in Jerusalem, asked Jews abroad to enter a "loyal partnership" with Israel.

The United States rejected as incompatible with American ideas the proposed United Nations treaty on freedom of information.

"When even one American—who has done nothing wrong—is forced by fear to shut his mind and close his mouth, then all Americans are in peril," President Truman said in denouncing the "scurrilous work of the scandal mongers" in and out of Congress.

The Administration program for $8,500,000,000 in foreign aid, already trimmed and facing further cuts, will be debated in the House today.

TELLS OF VALUE OF A HOME HERB GARDEN

"You Can't Sit Down and Wish for A Garden," Says Miss Julia Balderston

100 GIFTS ANNOUNCED

NEWTOWN, Aug. 15—Newtown Garden Club members met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Reuben Kester as hostess, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Albert Mammel, with 21 members attending. Mrs. Russell Janney, president, was in charge of the meeting. Roll call showed 100 gifts of plants, flowers, and vegetables had been given out by members.

Miss Helen Pearson presented the schedule for the flower show to be held Sept. 7th in the New Century Club rooms from three to nine p. m.

Miss Julia Balderston gave an interesting talk on "Home Herb Gardens." In part, Miss Balderston said: "You cannot sit down and wish for a garden, you have to work for it—you have to have the urge inside you that makes you thrill at the sight of a budding leaf or blooming flower. With a garden, goes as a matter of fact, the home herb garden." The seeds we are using today have been found in excavations in Egypt, Pompeii and Mexico. In the Far East in Bible times, anise and other aromatic herbs were used in part payment for taxes. We read "ye pay tithe of mint, anise," and in Genesis it says "Behold I have given you every herb bearing seed upon the face of the earth—to you it shall be meat."

PEACE TALKS

By Howard Handleman

(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)
UN BASE NEAR KAESONG, Aug. 15—(INS)—The Allies uncorked a surprise move today to end the deadlock gripping the Korea armistice talks and the Communists indicated for the first time they might consider a cease-fire line north of Parallel 38.

Vice Adm. Charles Turner Joy proposed at the 25th Kaesong session the creation of a joint subcommittee to tackle the buffer zone problem which has paralyzed the conference through 15 meetings.

By request of the Reds, the chief United Nations delegate submitted his unheralded proposal in writing and a 26th session was set for one o'clock Thursday afternoon (11 p. m. Wednesday EDT), that meeting may decide whether there is hope of breaking the prolonged deadlock.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO FORMER JUDGE BOYER

Three Judges and 37 Attorneys Attend Memorial Service

FUNERAL IS HELD

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 15—Three judges and thirty-seven attorneys attended the memorial service held yesterday afternoon in the Bucks County Court House in memory of former Judge Calvin S. Boyer, who died in Maine last Thursday.

Tributes were paid the distinguished Bucks county jurist by several members of the Bucks County Bar Association at a special meeting presided over by the association's president, Samuel S. Gray, Jr., of Newtown, and President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

Speaking as a former law partner of Judge Boyer, and a life-long friend, Attorney Isaac J. Vanartsdalen, of Doylestown, said that in his opinion, Judge Boyer was the most capable trial judge before whom he had ever tried a case, over a period of at least fifty years. "Judge Boyer was a hard and conscientious worker," Mr. Vanartsdalen said. "He hated to see work uncompleted if it could be avoided. He was capable and could understand complicated cases. He was an excellent conversationalist with a keen sense of humor."

"He was intensely interested in art and was capable of painting some very excellent pictures. He was not a politician and hated practical politics. He told me once that he regarded professional politics as affording the basis for ruin of the country. But notwithstanding his rather aloof attitude

IS M'CARTHY A COWARD?

Those who have been following the nationwide attempt to smear Senator Joseph McCarthy for daring to take in after the pro-Communists in the national government are unfortunate in that a recent article by the Washington columnist David Lawrence seems to have been omitted from the metropolitan newspapers of this area.

What Mr. Lawrence had to say about the McCarthy episode was most important, so far as clear understanding of the issues is involved.

For months there has been a hue and cry after the Wisconsin Senator and ex-Marine hero on the basis that it has been cowardly for him to reveal the identity of the suspected pro-Communists only on the floor of the U. S. Senate.

Again and again the Senator has been accused of "hiding behind his senatorial immunity."

In a recent television press conference, as Mr. Lawrence recounts, Senator McCarthy undertook to silence once and for all this completely unfair line of criticism.

For one thing, he pointed out that before the names were announced those same writers who recently have so bitterly assailed him for "naming unconvicted and untried persons" were just as bitter in their charges that he lacked the courage to name names, and was dealing only in generalities.

For another, he read from the record to prove that many, if not all, the names in question had been revealed under orders of Democratic chairmen and majorities in Washington, over his own protests.

But most important, Senator McCarthy dramatized the real

MORRISVILLE MAY EMPLOY PLANNER

Will Meet With Planning Commission to Consider The Matter

SALARY TO BE $7,500

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 15—This borough is considering engaging the services of a professional consultant in planning. Borough council, last night, announced that it will meet Sept. 4th with the Borough Planning Commission for the purpose of discussing its recommendation that Russell Vannest Black be engaged at a salary of $7,500.

Robert Bailey, chairman of the commission, presented the request and urged that the council consider this as a vital investment in the future of the community. The work of the consultant would take approximately one year while salary payments could be spread over a three-year period.

A letter from Col. Irving Pugh, executive director of the Morrisville Defense Council, was read criticizing the complete lack of progress or cooperation within the local defense organization. Pugh stated that he had been informed by the state defense director that Morrisville is a critical defense area and must be alerted for any possible danger.

Pugh recommended a meeting of the Borough Council and the Defense Council. A motion was passed by Borough Council that such a meeting be held in September so that the Defense Council could hear Pugh's charges and be given an opportunity to reply.

"TRIBUTE" PAID BY BRISTOLIAN TO SEAL

Name Suggestions Coming In Fast from Bristol Girls and Boys

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

A "tribute" has been written to that young hooded seal now sporting in the beaver pond at Philadelphia "zoo," and which chose to stop off in Bristol last week after a long swim from Greenland area.

Miss Alice Prime, of 536 Locust street, has submitted the following:

A TRIBUTE TO A SEAL
Oscar the frisky seal
Had a very shiny coat
All of the other seals
Laughed and really got his goat.
So one day poor Oscar
Decided to run away
And he landed in Bristol
One bright and sunny day.
The town was in an uproar
They didn't know what to do
So they called long distance
To the Philadelphia Zoo.
But Oscar was having a gay time
Entertaining the folks
But along came the old keeper
And gave poor Oscar a poke.
So now he is resting comfortably
After taking penicillin shots
But he's made Bristol famous
And we really think he's tops.

GETTING EXTORTIONISTS

When companies installing fuel oil tanks in New York City applied to the fire department for permits they were forced to pay a charge ranging from $10 to $35 for each unit. This was no part of a city license system. It was sheer extortion, a racket from which the total take was an estimated $2,000,000.

That was a political tax, a charge against the business community which, it is reasonable to assume, the public paid. For the perpetrators it looked like easy money, and it was while the racket lasted. But it hasn't lasted for a quartet of ex-firemen. They will now have 13 to 23 years in prison to reflect that maybe there is something besides corn to the adage about honesty being the best policy.

These defendants were the goats. The sentencing judge thought they were allowed to retain about $5,000 each. One of the men under sentence is described as the "field general" for James J. Moran, once New York's first deputy fire commissioner and political intimate of former Mayor O'Dwyer.

The million-dollar letter of credit the former mayor is reported to have deposited to his own account in a New York bank when he traveled from Mexico City—where he is currently U. S. ambassador—to Gotham to testify before the Kefauver committee, has been explained. Mexico, it seems, wanted to make a payment for lend-lease. The letter of credit was withdrawn when the Mexican government changed its mind.

Would it not be a good idea for Congress to investigate to see whether it has become standard practice for foreign governments to make payments on debts to the United States by checks made out to ambassadors personally?

FLOWERS ON HIROSHIMA

Over Hiroshima a lone B-26 bomber dropped two wreaths and baskets of loose flowers. It opened its bomb bay doors at the spot where, six years before, the first atomic bomb had fallen on the unsuspecting Japanese city and had almost wiped it out in one tremendous searing blast. This flight recalled that earlier one. The falling flowers were meant for the victims and the wreaths were intended to express a hope for peace.

No one could say that there was anything out of place in this ceremonial act carried out by an American crew in an American plane. The people of Hiroshima had planned a day-long observance of this anniversary, and surely they are entitled to remember the unforgettable tragedy that struck them on August 5, 1945.

There must have been many in Hiroshima who could hardly bear to watch the B-26 circle above them, though they were aware it carried nothing to do harm. They know from horrible experience that only one plane, if it is charged with delivering an atomic bomb, can snuff out thousands of lives in an instant, cripple thousands of bodies, turn a whole city into a blazing ruin.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

(Copyright, 1951

(While Fulton Lewis, Jr., is on a four-weeks reporter's tour of Europe, guest columnists will write for him. Today's column is by Louis Francis Budenz.)

By Louis Francis Budenz

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—When Fulton Lewis invited me to contribute this column, he said: "You may write what you like."

Kind words of that character would cause any ex-Communist who has given service to the United States Government to jump at the chance. Not infrequently he can expect a torrent of abuse for anything he might say, coming from certain non-Communist quarters in addition to the regular round of Red vituperation.

I wish today to make an appeal for these ex-Communists, who have loyally served the United States by testifying against the Red conspiracy. They have been treated to a smear, extensive and gangster-like, which constitutes a national disgrace. I do not include my own case, since I am in a peculiar position. I have made my peace with my conscience and my God and am indifferent to what the appeasers say about me. But this organized campaign of character assassination against anyone who seeks to aid the Government will soon deprive the United States of any witnesses against the conspiracy. It contrasts with the gentle treatment accorded those who defiantly refuse to help.

In 1939, John Leech, a former official of the Communist Party in California, appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities under subpoena. Asked to tell what he knew of the Communists in Hollywood, Leech mentioned the leading role of Frank Tuttle and furnished many other names of actors and writers since established to be Reds. For that testimony, Leech was subjected to scurrilous attacks, which went on and on. Well-manicured writers, who weep at any fancied injuries to the Reds, joined in the assault. Rumors were set on foot that he was a worthless and shady character. He became a marked man, denied employment, and at certain moments faced the grim possibility of actual death by starvation.

Now in 1950 and '51, in the new hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Leech is completely upheld, out of the mouths of some of those whom he accused. Frank Tuttle at last admits that he was a Communist and a leading one in Hollywood. Other like testimony shows that Leech told the truth in 1939, word by word. I suggest that the United States Government declare this to be the case, publicly acclaim Leech's service to the country, and rehabilitate his position and good name. That is the least that should be done.

One of the witnesses upon whom the Government particularly relied toward much of the modern activity and interests of the people, he participated freely and enthusiastically in almost every organization or movement for the betterment of the community.

"He was keen, quick, discerning, ready with his rulings, willing to listen to any substantial objection, but never permitting unfair advantage to be taken, or unjust wasting of time. He was ever mindful of the fact he owed a duty to the public as well as litigents and that as a Judge only a servant of the people, employed in an official position to help conduct the courts fairly, impartially."

President Judge Keller said that Judge Boyer was very successful during his career and was so regarded by all his associates and by the Supreme Court. "He tried a lot of cases and was very successful," Judge Keller commented.

Attorney Wilbur VanDine, of Doylestown, as a younger member of the Bar, said: "I know that I will miss Judge Boyer; he was a staunch friend."

Attorney J. Leslie Kileoyne, of Bristol, said: "During the two years that I served as Assistant District Attorney, I tried 99 per cent of my cases before Judge Boyer, and during those two years I sat at the feet of a master. Judge Boyer was a fair and honest Judge of the highest integrity, and especially fair to all the young lawyers."

Judge Edward G. Biester commented: "Judge Boyer was always kindly and possessed a great sense of humor, but there was never anything vicious about his humor. The shock of his death was not as great as the shock we suffered about two years ago when we realized for the first time that Judge Boyer was in failing health."

Judge Fred Davis, of Monroe county, who came down from Stroudsburg to attend the service and funeral, said: "I loved to try cases before Judge Boyer. A truly great judge has passed on."

District Attorney Willard S. Curtin, of Morrisville, said: "Judge Boyer was an extremely brilliant man and we are going to miss him." The association passed a resolution in memory of the sterling qualities of the late jurist, and mentioned his contribution to the high and honorable services that that always marked the administration of law and conduct of the Bucks county courts.

"He was a sound counselor, thoroughly conscientious in all his relations with clients and the court, courteous to and respected by his associates, and greatly esteemed in Bucks county, and wherever he was known," the resolution in part recorded.

"The great increase in court work, including the ever-mounting juvenile and domestic relations cases and the difficult, discouraging and sadistic character of the matters coming before the court, preyed heavily on Judge Boyer. Never having been especially robust physically, his health became impaired, which finally necessitated his voluntary retirement. He may well be said to have been a martyr to his work."

The funeral of former Judge Calvin S. Boyer was held yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 105 North Broad street, where a viewing was held Monday evening. Rev. Meyer M. Hostetter, of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev.

DREAM KITCHEN

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

MAKING meals, doing dishes—two big items on any homemaker's agenda. They take time, and that time is spent in the kitchen, a room that's the scene of many "woman hours" of housework each week.

Here's a room that's a center of activity, of tasks that are tiresome, yet must be done daily. For this reason, Mrs. America is kitchen conscious. If she's building or buying a home, she wants her kitchen planned for maximum efficiency. If her kitchen's already set up—and not satisfactorily—she eyes the ads with a wistful gleam in her eye.

If you're starting from scratch, you can buy a dream kitchen, like the one shown, complete with deluxe appliances, cabinets, counter tops and glass block counter. The cost can run as high as $2,000.

Get out a paper and pencil. Figure out the difference in cost between the deluxe job and a hit-or-miss kitchen. Count up the saving in time and effort that the streamlined kitchen will bring. Perhaps you'll decide that spending more than you'd planned will, in the long run, be well worth it.

The important thing, of course, is to consult a kitchen planning expert while your home is still in the blueprint stage. Be sure electric outlets, floor space, windows are placed properly for maximum efficiency. If the house is already up, let the kitchen planner see the floor plan and tell you how best to utilize the available space.

If you're budgeting, you needn't buy all your streamlined appliances at once. But plan for them now, so you'll have a place for them when you can afford to make the purchase.

The designer who dreamed up the kitchen on today's pages, planned the exact layout that this particular homemaker wanted to live and work with—and there was no additional cost for his advice. It was a special service of the appliance manufacturer.

Charles F. Freeman, of the Salem Reformed Church, spoke at the funeral yesterday afternoon.

The pallbearers, all members of the Bar Association, were Claire G. Biehn, Quakertown; Arthur M. Eastburn, Jr., Doylestown; C. William Freed, Jr., Quakertown; J. Franklin Hartzel, Assistant District Attorney Donald W. Vanartsdalen and Wilbur H. VanDine, of Doylestown.

Former United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy, of Bristol, and all the members of the Bar Association who were not serving as regular bearers, were the honorary pallbearers.

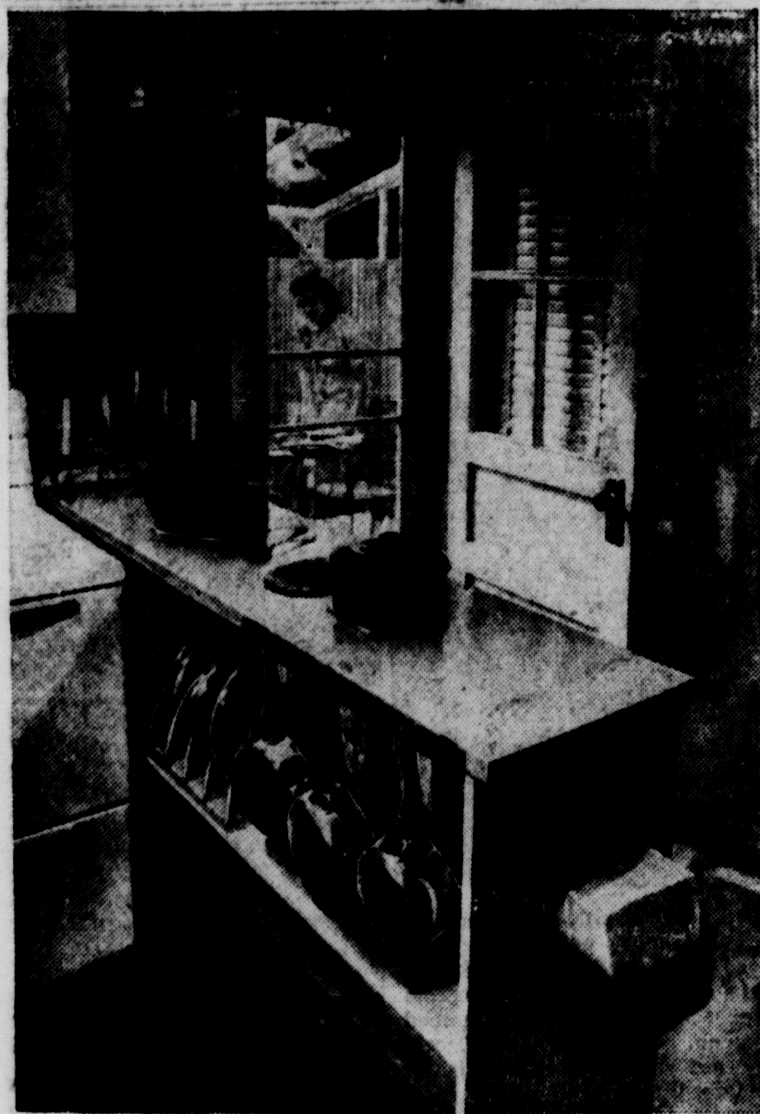

Interment was made in the Doylestown Cemetery.

Fete Mrs. Potts, Jr., At A Surprise Shower

NEWPORTVILLE, Aug. 15 — On Thursday evening a surprise shower was held for Mrs. William Potts, Jr., arranged by Mrs. Potts' sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Wimmersberger, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Traber, at the latter's home on Hillside avenue. Mrs. Robert Cameron, Jr., also assisted.

Favors were "diapers" made of napkins, and cups of mints and nuts.

Ice cream, cake, candy and punch were served to Mrs. Potts, Mrs. Wimmersberger, Sr., Mrs. Alfred Wright, Mrs. Howard Sooby, Mrs. John Cameron, Mrs. William Potts, Sr., Mrs. Paul Keating, Mrs. George Erny, Sr., Mrs. George Erny, Jr., Mrs. James Martin, Mrs. Wilbur Martin, Mrs. Florence Martin, Mrs. Roger Furness, Mrs. John Friedel, Mrs. John Lowrie, Mrs. Jesse Headley, Mrs. Herman F. Becker, Jr., Mrs. Harry Backhouse, Sr., Mrs. Charles Potts.

THE REWARD OF planning is an efficient kitchen, such as this one. A partition provides a wide counter for sorting grocery deliveries.

The room is laid out in three working areas—a mixing center (for baking) near the refrigerator; a preparatory center (for fruits and vegetables) near the sink, and a cooking and serving center near the range. Kitchen work starts at the left and flows easily to the right, so Mrs. Homemaker doesn't have to back-track or criss-cross. The glass-block partition near the door is used for sorting food deliveries.

Up-to-date appliances keep work at a minimum. There's a 10-cubic foot refrigerator, sparkling white steel cabinets, an electric dishwasher, an electric sink with garbage disposal unit and an electric range.

Well-planned storage units save more time. All food supplies and equipment are stored near the working area where they're used.

It's a dream kitchen come true. Bright and cheerful, it means less work for the lady of the house.

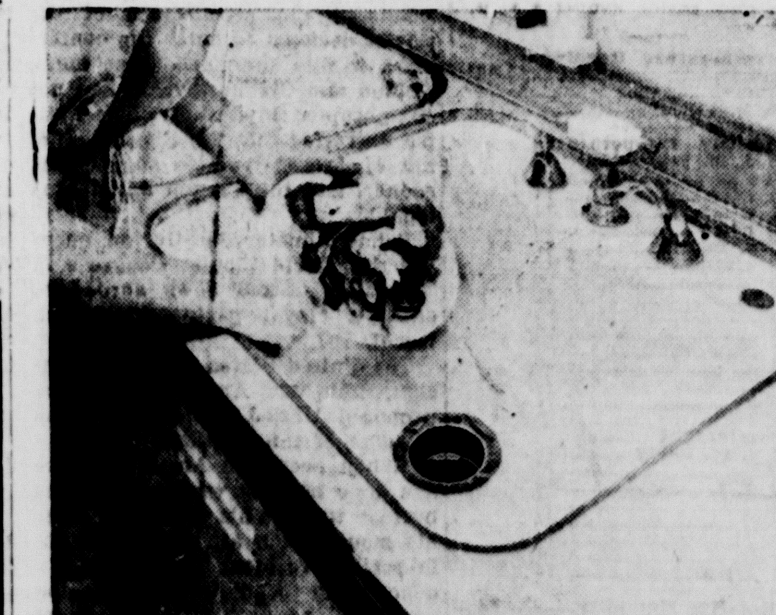

ALL MODERN conveniences and all arranged so that kitchen tasks start at the left and flow to the right, thus avoiding back-tracking.

HERE'S A DREAM kitchen come true. Planned to cut down Mrs. Homemaker's work, it's arranged and equipped to save time and steps. An electric dishwasher, for example, takes care of dishes in short order.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, Miss Anna White, Newportville; Mrs. Albert Settle, Jr., Mrs. Albert Settle, Sr., Trevoise; Mrs. William Small, Philadelphia.

A person married legally the second time is a digamist.

THERE'S NO garbage can in this house! None is needed because there's a garbage disposal unit in the streamlined electric sink.

HIGHLIGHTS IN THE CAREER OF WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

DEATH CLOSED THE CAREER OF PUBLISHER William Randolph Hearst, who at eighty-eight had spanned a historic era in American journalism as a writer, editor and founder of an empire comprising 17 newspapers, 10 magazines and wire, photo and feature services. Born in San Francisco in 1863, Mr. Hearst was the son of U. S. Senator George Hearst, and at the age of eight was photographed in a typical pose of the time. A pioneer in the development of news pictures, Mr. Hearst, in 1898, put his own camera to good use aboard his yacht during the Spanish-

American War. In the field of art, he was renowned for the vastness and worth of objects he brought from Europe to his California estate, where he posed with his favorite dog, Helen. Mr. Hearst followed his father's vital interest in political affairs, was several times a candidate for high office, and appeared at the polls to cast his vote despite his advancing years. Americanism was a primary principle with the crusading publisher through successive campaigns for issues like woman's suffrage down to that of anti-trust and anti-Communism.

Is McCarthy A Coward?

reason why the names are being released from the floor of the Senate.

Unfortunately, the smear conspiracy which has been attempting to silence McCarthy or destroy him was able to garble the matter to the point where many of those who listened to the TV show missed the real significance of the occurrence.

What McCarthy did was to offer to reveal the names of a recently discussed batch of alleged pro-Communists, from his office and free of Senatorial immunity, on one condition only—that the press services would promise ahead of time to use the story.

This the press services and individual reporters simply don't dare do. It isn't solely a matter of courage. The fact is that the moment they did so, they would become jointly liable along with McCarthy for slander suits. The Communists and fellow-travelers have worked this racket for all it is worth. They have huge funds and a big staff of lawyers on tap, and they could sue the papers and associations for way up in the millions of dollars.

It isn't McCarthy, therefore, but the newspapers, who are responsible for relying on Senatorial immunity. Once the names are read into the official record of Congress, then the story is "protected" against libel suits.

Why did McCarthy ask that the services promise ahead of time to use the names? For this reason: if he gave out the names to the reporters, and they did not use them, then he solely and individually would become the target of the libel suits—without having accomplished a single thing!

Incidentally, while the press associations and reporters piously rejected the idea of committing themselves ahead of time, as though this was unusual and unfair, actually it is not at all unusual for such promises to be made, as anyone even slightly experienced with newspaper work is fully aware.

The American people ought to be just a bit more concerned over this episode than they appear to be. The smear-McCarthy drive has reached proportions where it is stultifying the integrity of the American press.

If a war hero is to be systematically lied about, and the facts systematically suppressed, then neither freedom of speech nor American fair play can be said to be alive and in operation today.

mand for a 38th Parallel armistice line came from Gen. Nam Il, head of the North Korean-Chinese negotiators.

He admitted during a lengthy statement in the Kaesong conference house Wednesday that the present battlefield, most of which lies well above the Parallel, reflects the overall military situation in Korea.

Nam's admission, conflicting with his previous assertions that the old north-south political border is a "logical" location for a buffer belt, was made while he was arguing against a thesis advanced by Joy.

The top Allied delegate had argued that the "indirect" as well as direct effects of air and naval power must be considered in the overall military picture. Joy had pointed out that the Allied-proposed armistice line based on the battlefield would take the weight of UN air-naval superiority off the Communist rear areas.

In reply, Nam declared the battlefield already reflects air and naval as well as ground strength. He conceded that Allied air and naval attacks had some effect on Red military operations.

The Red delegates wore smiles as they left the conference house after Wednesday's meeting which lasted one hour and 48 minutes. Adm. Joy also looked cheerful.

At the same time, Communist correspondents at Kaesong told Allied newsmen the Red delegates no longer are rigidly demanding a 38th Parallel armistice line because "Joy has made it plain he won't talk about that."

The UN supreme command announced Wednesday evening that the Allies had proposed the subcommittee to "make recommendations to the two delegations as to ways and means of emerging from the present deadlock."

A communique issued at the UN base below Kaesong said Joy's suggestion "came after another re-statement by the Communists of their thus far inflexible stand on the 38th Parallel."

It said the Reds "continue to ignore the UN command's frequently extended invitations to suggest adjustments" in the generalized Allied proposal for a demilitarized zone approximating the present battlefield.

Earlier in Wednesday's session, the bulletin related, Joy and Gen. Nam Il, top Red delegate, "expressed their respective but divergent views on the effectiveness of naval and air operations on the present overall military situation."

In his bid to break the buffer zone deadlock, Joy proposed that each side appoint one of its five delegates to the joint subcommittee, with a "limited staff of assistants," a briefing officer said.

The officer, Brig. Gen. William F. Nuckolls, said that in taking the suggestion under advisement Nam Il did not indicate whether he would accept it but that presumably he will give the Communist answer Thursday.

FRANKLIN BREAKS LOSING STREAK; DEFEATS TIGERS

Franklin A. C. broke its losing streak of six straight games by defeating the Terrace Tigers, 5-2, last evening on Memorial Park baseball field. The defeat dropped the Tigers into the cellar.

Both Tony Angelo, of the winners, and Charlie Young, of the Tigers, pitched good ball. Young struck out 15 while Angelo fanned 9. Both allowed six hits.

Hollibough had two of the Tigers' safeties while both Virgulti and Trasatti connected for two Franklin hits.

CONDIT PITCHES NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

"Bill" Condit pitched a no-run, no-hit game last evening as Bensalem Sporting Club eliminated the Newportville Redskins from the playoffs of the Bristol Youth League. Final score was 6-0. The finals of the circuit between Bensalem and Croydon will get under way tomorrow evening on Memorial field.

Condit was a trifle wild in pitching his no-hitter as he walked six batters and hit another with a pitched ball. In the final frame with two gone, the Bensalem hurler passed two batters before Bob Jones fled out for the final out of the game. Condit whiffed six, one per inning.

Bensalem made eight hits off Ashby and were aided by four errors. Harry Robinson had three for four and scored two runs while Struble had two bingles in three trips to the plate.

MILLER FIRST TO ENTER 100-MILE RACE SEPT. 2ND

Bill Miller, of Mountville, was the first driver to submit an entry for the 100-mile National Motorcycle Championship scheduled for the famed Langhorne Speedway, Sunday afternoon, September 2nd.

Last year Miller, who is the champion in several departments of cycle racing including the Tourist Trophy Race which he won at Peoria, Ill., was one of the outstanding contenders for the 100-mile title. He took the lead at the start of the 1950 event then lost and regained it three times before being forced from competition as a result of a bad spill. This year he will appear at the speedway along the U. S. Highway No. 1 with the idea of taking first money in the only 100-mile National Championship, sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association, as well as the glory that goes with the same.

The Middle Atlantic Dealers Association have announced that lap money will be awarded in the title event. From the twentieth to the century mark additional prize money will be awarded the leaders. This will attract many new drivers, as a matter of fact the association looks for the largest field in the 13-year-old history of the event.

The Langhorne course will be in great shape for the century grind. With no action carded for the big circular course the track crew has already commenced conditioning the course for the title event.

Cartoon Characters Sketched for Scouts

Continued from Page One 2, the Pioneer patrol and the Mohawk patrol; Bristol No. 42, the Wolf patrol and the Bob White patrol; from Bristol No. 48, the Flaming Arrow patrol, and the Daniel Boone patrol; from Hulmeville Troop No. 22, the Wolf patrol.

Those troops, which were awarded the standard troop award, are: Bristol No. 2, New Hope No. 33, Bristol No. 42, Bristol No. 48, and Quakertown No. 55. The standard troop award is a high honor. It means that the troop has proved itself to be a good camping unit. It must have earned the clean camp flag during the week, its conduct in the dining hall must have met the highest standards of Scoutlike conduct, the program must have been satisfactory, with advancement objectives of individuals and units, afternoon and evening programs for each day, participation in camp features, quiet after taps and before reveille, all patrols in the troop must have earned the Honor Patrol Plaque. All crews within the Troop have won the Honor Crew Plaques. The proper use has been made of the Health Lodge. Have been prompt to meals and all other program features, and generally, the boys have lived up to the ideals of the Scout oath and laws, motto and slogan during their week in camp. These high standards are outstanding in the general field of Scout camping.

The activities of the week of a camp-wide nature, first of all, included the campfire on Tuesday night, when Ralph Stoudt thrilled all the boys with a stirring story.

Friday afternoon, there was a "gold rush." When all the prospectors had completed digging in seven or eight different places, Quakertown No. 55 located the most nuggets, and won the "gold rush."

On Saturday, the water carnival was won by Feasterville No. 78. The grand finale and big event of the water carnival, the watermelon splash, was won by Bristol No. 2. The last week of Camp Ockanickon opened on Sunday, when Scouts from Dublin Troop No. 68, Croydon No. 69, Edgely No. 39, Fallsington No. 40, Morrisville No. 3, and Penn-del No. 82 arrived for a week of camping.

An unusual event in the program last week was a demonstration of chicken imu by Paul Miller, the program director at Camp Ockanickon. Chicken imu is a preparation and cooking of a meal in a hole in the ground, showing the advantages of fireless cooking while on a camping trip. This part of the program was very well received by the unit leaders at camp.

Camp Ockanickon will come to a close on Sunday. On Saturday evening, Brigadier General George Van Orden, U. S. M. C., retired, of Quantico, Va., will present awards at the campfire ceremony. General Van Orden is a Scout and member at large of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He spent the last week-end at Camp Ockanickon.

Assign Sgt. D. F. Field To A Senior Clerkship

Headquarters of the 7th Air Division at South Ruislip, England, near London, has announced the assignment of Sgt. Dominic F. Field, of Bristol, to duty as a senior clerk.

Sgt. Field is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Field, of 216 Franklin street.

The 7th Air Division, commanded by Major General John P. McConnell, is a major subordinate unit under the Strategic Air Command. The division has the job of maintaining operational control of Strategic Air Command units undergoing ing training in the United Kingdom under a rotational plan. SAC bombardment and fighter escort units sent here for training normally serve a period of approximately three months before returning to the United States.

Sgt. Field enlisted in the Air Force in April of 1948. After attending specialist school at Fort Francis E. Warren, Cheyenne, Wyo., where he was trained for his present position, Field was assigned to MacDill Air Force Base at Tampa, Fla., where he remained until being given his present assignment in England.

Lincoln was assassinated at Ford's theatre while attending a play entitled "Our American Cousin."

Old thrills... new money

If you've taken the family to an amusement park recently, you've had reason enough to recall "the good old days," and to remember how much more a dollar would buy then than now.

But don't blame those who run the park, the roller-coaster, or the merry-go-round. Blame the dollar! It buys less today than ever before.

Needless to say, it buys less for us, too.

The cost of supplies and equipment used in the telephone business is going up and up, just like the cost of supplies and equipment for other businesses... and just like the cost of food, clothing and amusement for you.

Take copper wire for example. Ten years ago, it cost us about $16 per hundredweight. Today, it costs $31.50 - nearly twice as much.

In spite of all this, we have been able to provide good, low-cost telephone service that continues to grow in value.

Even if it should cost more, your telephone service, in comparison with other things, would still be a big, big bargain.
